Examinations are formal tests that one takes to show how much knowledge or ability one has in a particular subject. Examinations are done in all levels of education. At primary level, the examination journey begins in primary one and ends in primary seven. In primary seven, the last examination you prepare for as a candidate is called P.L.E.

There are a lot of activities done to prepare for this final examination while in primary seven. For one to successfully accomplish these longest courses, a primary course which is for seven years; one must have a total commitment because it calls for foregoing all activities that may destruct one's mind.

Among these may include regular attendance of class lessons, revision of books, consulting teachers and fellow candidates, carrying out research and doing corrections where necessary. This will help one to have a better performance. The PLE timetable is published by UNEB at the beginning of third term and serious preparations are in high gear. After the candidates have done this examination, the scripts are taken for marking to different marking centres and results released by the Ministry of Education and sports around mid-January after UNEB has made all compilations of the results.
