The handiwork lesson was always exciting. All the pupils looked forward to that day when it was conducted. Everyone was required to bring some materials for use. These materials depended on what one wanted to make.

Last Friday, Kelly and Reagan wanted to make ropes. They had been making toy cars in all the previous lessons. Now they wanted to try out something new. Two of Kelly's classmates also wanted to make ropes. So they set out on the journey to Kamengo swamp to look for sisal. All of them had never been to this swamp but they were following directions given to them by Amos. They reached the swamp and got sisal enough for all to make ropes. They quickly walked back home as it was getting dark. They soon reached a junction. There were three paths at the junction. Each path led to a different place. None of these boys could remember the path to take. Luckily enough, they saw Mr. Tayebwa.

He was Reagan's neighbour. The boys greeted him and asked him the right path back home. He directed them and they walked safely.

Questions:

b) How were the pupils able to choose the materials to use?
